We Remember

The theme of our yearbook this year is "Moments In Time." When the theme was chosen the previous year, the students did not realize how this theme would relate to a national tragedy. In the early hours of September 11, 2001 our nation became the target of terrorism. Teachers anxiously awaiting information put aside class plans to watch what was happening on the news. "We're watching history in the making," Mr Goniatis, a history teacher at HHS, told his class. This national tragedy personally affected many in the Holbrook School system.

Last year, Andrew Card, former graduate of Holbrook High School and now Chief of Staff to the President of the United States of America, had an important message for the graduating seniors about not getting stuck in the moment. This year, he had a different message for President Bush. It was his duty to inform the president that our nation was under attack.

A special education teacher at HHS, Mrs. Alice Beaton openly shared her thoughts on this tragedy, as she and her family were personally affected by these events with the loss of her brother. "I needed a new support system because my family was suffering too. Mrs. Mary DelSignore, the faculty, and the students turned out to be my greatest help. Mrs. Mary Del Signore was there to comfort me. She made me realize that I wasn't alone in this."

There are thousands of stories like Mrs. Beaton's. Each one tells the story of loss, love, and of heroism. Out of this tragedy came a country with a renewed sense of nationalism and patriotism. Flags appeared in many of the store windows, on houses and also on cars. Candle lit services occurred throughout the nation on the following Friday, commemorating the victims and the heroes of our nation.

Thousands of gallant rescue workers risked their lives to save the lives of others. These common citizens were now looked upon as American heroes.

Out of a situation that could have crippled our nation, our colors are still flying and United We Stand!

Superintendent's Message

Dear Graduates:

On behalf of the Hobbrook School Committee, I want to congratulate you on this major accomplishment in your life. Your hard work and commitment to achieving this goal is recognized by all, and you are to be commended for it.

Throughout your lives you will reflect fondly upon the many experiences you had while students in Holbrook, and the memories growing up in our community will always be treasured by you as you grow through life. It is my hope that you have taken from your administrators, teachers, coaches, and all the individuals who have supported your efforts, the finest of moral and ethical qualities we have so desired to instill over these years.

It is also my hope that as you prosper and succeed in your life you realize the importance of giving back to the community ways which contribute to improving the quality of life for everyone.

Congratulations and Best Wishes for a life of happiness and success. I remain....

Sincerely, Dr. Maynard M. Suffredini, Jr.

Principal's Message

The Class of 2002 chose "Moments in Time" as its yearbook theme. Never, in choosing this name, did you imagine that your senior year would be marked by the events of September 11, 2001. That tragedy will always be a part of your high school experience. In terms of your life in high school, it is probably your most momentous "Moment in Time."

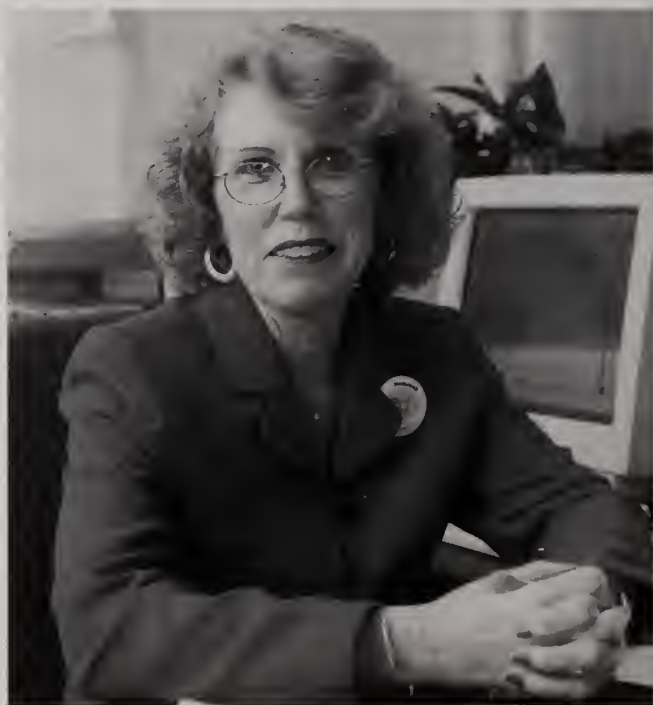

However, yearbooks are meant for happier moments. This "Echo" pictures you as you are today, high school students at the beginning of the twenty-first century. It records your successes, your interests and your dreams.

Your "Echo" is the tale of your time together. Cherish the moments it pictures. The future will see each of you grow and change. As you add your favorite moments to the tale of this book, keep fresh the friends and memories that were so important in your youth.

Your high school career is ending. As White House Chief of Staff, Andrew H. Card, Jr., said to the graduating Class of 2001, "Do not stay too long in any one moment." Use your education, follow your dreams and make each new day an opportunity to enrich your book of life.

I will remember each of you and I wish each member of the Class of 2002 happiness and success.

Congratulations,
Mary V. DeSignore

In memory of our friends

On Thursday, September 20, our school community lost a dear friend, a teacher, a role model, and a counselor. According to her colleague, Mr. Young, "Colleen's happiest moments in my classes came when I'd ask her if she wanted to take over the class. She loved teaching and she loved being in the classroom. I think she showed me the right way to teach her students- with empathy and gentleness."

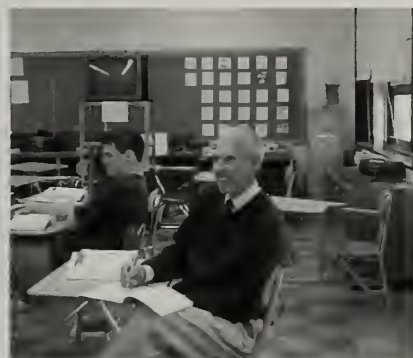

On November 8th we lost a dear friend. These are some words about Mrs. McMahon taken from Mr. Young's remembrance:

"She was sensitive to the needs of those around her and more than a few times, she would be there to listen, when that was needed; and offer advice when that was sought. Mrs. McMahon took a great deal of pride in her teaching and in many ways represented the best of our profession, she also took satisfaction in the successes that her students achieved and was sensitive to their needs."

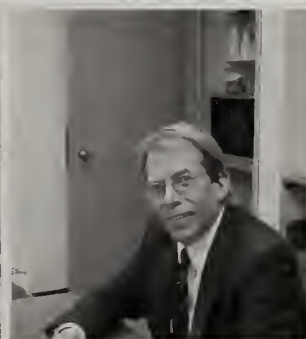

2:05 bell for good

Mr. Ghublikian started teaching in 1967 in Mentor, Ohio. He came to Holbrook in 1969. Mr. Ghublikian prefers to teach grade eight because in his words "you never know what to expect from early teens." In his retirement, Mr. G. is looking forward to spending time with his family and exploring new opportunities in education. His favorite teaching memory is learning how former students have progressed. Mr. G.'s favorite quote: "he who laughs last." Good advice for new teachers.

Mr. Young started teaching in 1967 but he was a student teacher in 1965 at Holbrook. His favorite grade to teach is whichever grade he is teaching at the time. Now Mr. Young is looking forward to experiencing the life that he has been teaching about for all these years. When we asked Mr. Young what his favorite memory in teaching was, he told us "the students who return to visit after four or five years after graduation and show me that we have succeeded." His favorite quote is "To everything there is a season, and a time to every purpose under heaven; therefore I perceive that... there is nothing better than that a man should rejoice in his own work; for who shall bring him to see what shall be after him."

It's been twelve years in the waiting, but our journey through school has finally come to an end. It's hard to believe that all those years of Homecoming banners, concessions stands, and our class trip to Disney will soon be just fond memories. As the year comes to a close, we feel a sense of nervous excitement - anticipating our future but not wanting to forget our past. We leave this school remembering all the great times we shared together. We wish the best of luck to the Class of 2002 in all that you may do in your future.

Thank You, Ms. Conners

The Class of 2002 would like to thank you, Ms. Conners, for the huge commitment you have made to us for the past four years. You have far surpassed the expectations of an advisor and over the years have become not only our mentor, advisor, and art director, but a true friend.

Whether it was staying at school until all hours of the night to finish the banner or driving into Boston to finalize details for the prom, you have always been dedicated to all of our endeavors.

We will never forget the times we shared with you - our winning Homecoming banner junior year, the unforgettable prom in Boston, and of course, our trip to Disney. Memories of night meetings, concession stands, and hamburger cookies are things that we will remember for years to come.

Your constant guidance and support have helped to shape our values and prepare us for whatever may lie ahead.

We thank you for all that you have done for us, Ms. Conners. You have helped to make our high school experience unforgettable.

With our love,
The Class of 2002

Student Council/ Band. I want to thank God for letting me live through all 12 years of high school. I want to thank everyone who gave me a chance to get to know them. I want to thank all the teachers that took their time to help me when I needed it. Thanks to my parents who told me to never stop trying. Thanks to the school band for being a bunch of great people and Mr. Thomas for being a great teacher and friend. To my girlfriend thanks for always being there "I Love You." And to everyone that made this year great for me including Lauren H. Thank You everyone I will miss you!

JOSHUA L. ALEXANDER

Varsity Wrestling. Thank you to all who have helped along he way. I especially thank my wrestling coach, Chris Fontecchio, for helping me to push my limit and helping me believe in myself and my dreams. My parents have also been there for me whenever I needed help on homework, when I actually decided to do it, and have supported me. Lastly, but definitely not least of all, the teachers who have taught me, or at least have tried to along the way. Thank you everyone, live long and prosper.

DAVID B. ALLSHOUSE

"Govi", "Giova". Listen to music, dance, talk on the phone with my friends. My birthday is August 12. I am 17 years old and I'm Peruvian. I came to the United States on September 8; that was a very special day for me. I like this country although I only know very little about it. I want to be a lawyer because I like law and will be able to help the needs of many people. I like to listen to music and to learn new dance steps. I think that not too far in the future, I will travel to my country but only to visit friends and to remember our old times.

GIOVANNA ALMONACID

"Apples and Oranges". Varsity baseball, football, basketball. I want to say that I love my parents and my brothers. Thanks Mom and Dad for caring so much. I want to say "whats up" to my two brothers Nick and Chris. I just want to say good luck to my best friends, Will and Brandon and good luck in college. I will miss high school. I had lots of fun. I want to say "whats up" to all the ladies! See you all later!

Senior Superlatives

Attached at the hip, Lynn Berry and Jane Morgen show their true friendship.

In the award for best friends, James Denning and Angus are never found at each other's throats.

Left: You never know what these two will be up to next, that is why Maddy Shedno and James Denning are awarded most unpredictable. Below: Seen on the stage and in the spotlight, Stephanie Nicholson and Eddie Paris are awarded most dramatic.

Pukt and Kerri Hagan are found toppled over, which is out of the ordinary and proves why they are classclutzes.

Stephanie O'Keeffe and Bob Purtle look confused at the annoucement of their winning the award for most absent-minded.

Eric Campbell and Tiffany Whynot demonstrate some of their moves as class clowns.

Drew Lowe and Sandy Morgan show off their riches as Class of 2002's most likely to succeed.

2002

Left: Mike Spadorcia and Amy Elliot are in the office with Mrs. Hammond, as usual, filling out the tardy book as they receive the award for most likely to be tardy or absent. Below: Steve Civitarese and Leah Oliver not only receive a ticket from Officer Quinn, but also the worst driver award for the Class of 2002.

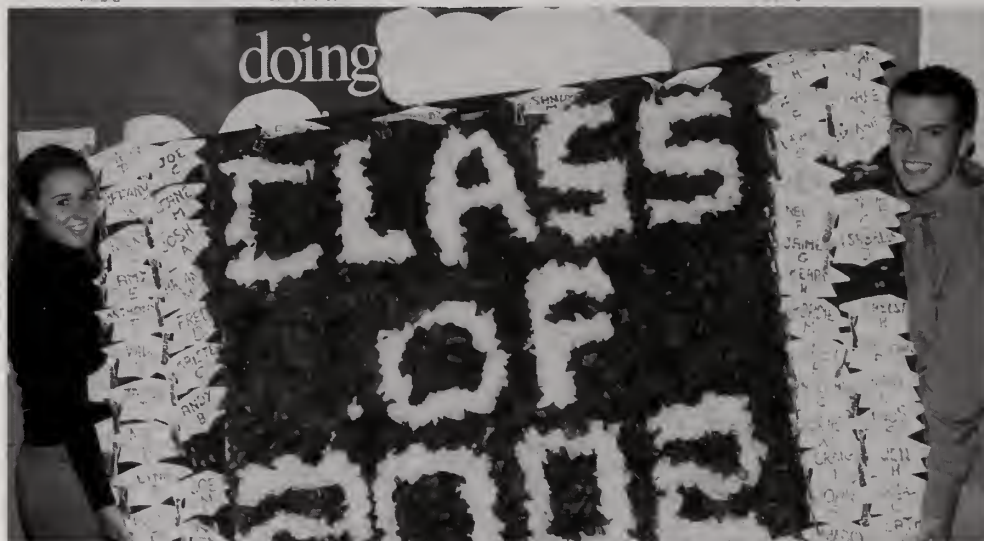

For the award for best smile, Fred Brown and Jamie Guarino show off their glorious grins.

Look at the baby blues on these two! Eric Campbell and Susan Winslow are awarded nicest eyes.

Superlatives 2002

The end

Clockwise from Left: Lindsay Hogan and Eddie Paris are well known for their enthusiasm within the school which, made them shoe-ins for the most spirited of 2002. Christine Nelson and Brian Fay ham it up as class flirts. Anthony Davidson and Kristin Costarelli make their break because they are awarded most likely to get away with it. Jillian Waldron and Chris Bate demonstrate every teacher's dream as the most talkative.

The Class of 2003 started off their junior year with great success. Our outstanding banner won the banner contest at the Homecoming Game. In December, we collected hats and mittens for the homeless. With these first few accomplishments, our class had been brought together by hard work. We prepared for the big event, our Junior-Senior Prom, which we were determined to make one to remember. The first step was raising money, therefore we had fundraisers including a night at Papa Gino's, the annual Christmas craft fair, concessions at the basketball games, and a prom fashion show. All the planning and fundraising completed by our class officers, executive board, and especially our class advisor, Ms. Moriarty, was definitely not overlooked on May 17, 2002. The night we had all waited for arrived. The prom was an event that we will always remember because it made our junior year at Holbrook Junior-Senior High School a special one.

Class Officers from top to bottom: Sarah Digirolamo, Treasurer; Danielle Lynch, Secretary; Taryn West, Vice-President; Amy Breen, President.

As our second year of high school comes to an end we anticipate the arrival of the busiest to come. We started off the year with many after school and night meetings to work on our homecoming banner. After long hours and several last minute adjustments, we worked together and were able to pull it off in time for the parade.

Our next project was to find fundraisers to help us raise money for our upcoming junior prom. First, we sold Hilliards candy around town and in school. When the holidays rolled around, we teamed up to make ornaments and different holiday crafts for the annual craft fair. Our hard work paid off and proved very successful as it was our most profitable fundraiser yet.

We ended the year by searching for a location for our junior prom. It took a great deal of hard work and a lot of compromising to come up with a place that we all agreed with. Thanks to our advisor, Mrs. Kaplan, we were able to do just that.

Under the direction of Mr. Power, our freshman year went well. We began the year working on the homecoming banner in October. While making the banner we were successful in bringing a lot of members of our class together to help. We also worked to make the fall craft fair a successful fundraising event. Our spring-time dance was another great fundraiser and we hope that that becomes a tradition.

We are looking forward to planning for the events to come in the exciting sophomore, junior and senior years.

NEW FACULTY

DR. MAYNARD SUFFERDINI

Dr. Sufferdini is Holbrook's new superintendent. He has attended Boston College, Boston University, Boston State College, and Harvard University. He has received his doctorate, bachelor, and master's degrees. He was a high school principal for twenty years and an assistant principal for four years. He taught high school Biology and coached football and track. He wanted to become an educator to "work with young people and to improve public education." When asked about what he enjoys most about educating students, he replied: "being able to work, have a positive impact on young people, and to assist them in achieving their education and career opportunities."

PATRICIA ANDERSON

Mrs. Anderson is the high school's new Spanish teacher. She is a graduate of Clark University and has taken courses at Bridgewater State. Last year she was a long term substitute at Silver Lake Regional High School. She enjoys watching the students progress in the language.

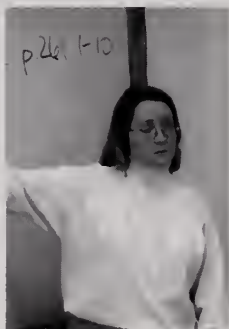

GEORGE BERISH

Mr. Berish teaches eighth grade Social Studies. Before working in Holbrook, he worked in retail. He attended Skidmore College for his B.A. in government, and then attended UMASS Dartmouth for his teaching certification. When asked what he enjoyed most about teaching, he replied, "I enjoy the challenge. I like working with students."

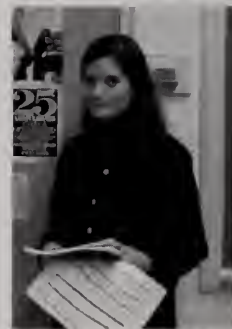

MIMI BOLDUC

Mrs. Bolduc teaches high school Math. She attended Wheaton College for her BA in economics and then got her MBA at Bentley College. Before teaching she worked as a Human Resources Analyst. "I enjoy seeing students grasp a concept that they thought they couldn't."

JESS FALLON

Mrs. Fallon teaches eighth grade English. She attended Wesleyan University and became a temporary secretary at an investment firm. She wanted to become a teacher to teach students how to express themselves. When asked what does she enjoy most about teaching she responded: "creative projects and funny stories from students."

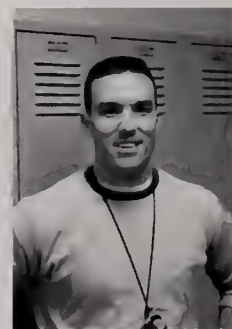

CHRIS FONTECCHIO

Mr. Fontecchio teaches high school Math. Before teaching in Holbrook, he worked in Finance for three years, and prior to that, he worked in the entertainment industry for three years. He attended Fordham University. The thing that he enjoys about teaching "is fresh youthful perspective on ideas, lessons, and concepts."

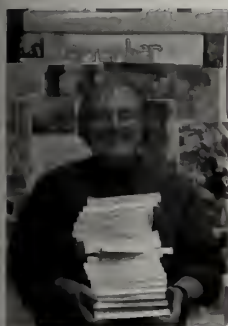

VINNIE HAYWORD

Mr. Hayword teaches physical education to all grades. He attended Bridgewater State College. He was a teacher at Avon Middle School and worked at Jordan's Furniture. When asked about what he enjoys most about teaching, he responded: "being around good people both students and teachers."

WILLIAM HENEHAN

Mr. Henehan teaches high school English and Current Issues. He taught at a wide variety of high schools and colleges and attended Boston University. When asked what he enjoyed most about teaching, he responded: "watching students learn to convey new information."

SHINIX MAO

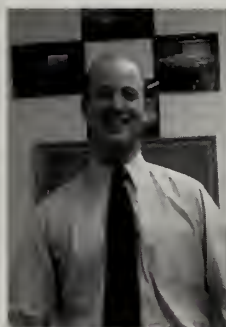

Ms. Mao is the new women's gym teacher. She was a part-time teacher at Oak Hill Middle School in Newton and a gymnastics coach at Mass. Gymnastics Center. She attended Su-Zhou University in China. When asked what she enjoyed most about teaching, she said she likes when students learn and do new sports and exercises.

RICHARD MONTIETH

Mr. Montieth teaches eighth grade Science. He started out as a manager for an after-market car company after attending Bridgewater State College. From there, he became a radioisotope chemist at DuPont. When asked what he enjoyed most about teaching, he responded: "I enjoy seeing the excitement of children when they learn something."

MICHAEL POWER

Mr. Power teaches ninth grade Social Studies. He attended Boston College and was a teacher at Medfield High School. When asked what he enjoyed most about teaching, he responded: "I like the enthusiasm of students when they genuinely are interested in a topic."

BRIAN SNOOK

Mr. Snook teaches eighth grade Math. He has attended Southeastern Massachusetts University, American International College, and is continuing education at Bridgewater State. Before Holbrook, he taught at Avon and Stoughton. When asked about what he enjoyed about teaching, he replied: "the Students!...The biggest kick is when they say 'I get it!'"

NANCY STAPLES

Ms. Staples is the new health education teacher. She taught at Canton High school and Bedford High School. She attended UMASS Lowell for her BS and UMASS Boston for her masters. When asked what she enjoyed most about teaching, she replied "I like to think I help students with the difficult choices they have to make their way to adulthood."

LISA TARASHUK

Mrs. Tarashuk is the school's new guidance counselor. She got her bachelors in Psychology at Providence College, and then she attended Boston College. Prior to being a guidance counselor, she worked at Brockton Hospital. She said she loves working with and helping kids.

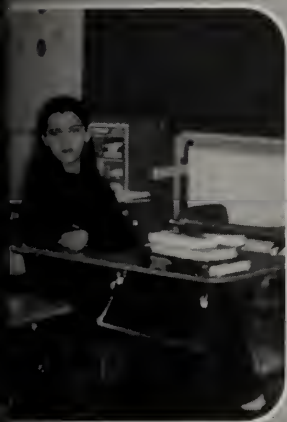

RICH VARTANIAN

Mr. Vartanian teaches high school IPS, Chemistry, and Physics. He attended college for eleven years studying music, business, and received his masters in physical therapy. For seven years he was a physical therapist, and for fifteen years he was a women's gymnastic coach.

A Knight of Royalty

Homecoming Queen and King are crowned!

On Friday, November 2, the brave Holbrook Bulldogs battled Cape Cod Tech. The evening started when the marching band led the Homecoming King and Queen candidates around the field in their convertibles. Following the candidates was the annual procession of class banners. This year's Homecoming Queen candidates were Sandy Morgan, Lindsay Hogan, Kim Goodwin, Stephanie Nicholson, Caitlin Flanagan and Elizabeth Sumner. The candidates for King were Brian Fay, Drew Lowe, Gordie Martin and Eddie Paris. After much anticipation, the King and Queen were finally announced during the half-time festivities.

Congratulations to Caitlin Flanagan and Drew Lowe, who were crowned 2001 Homecoming King and Queen. The winning banner, given to the Class of 2003, was also announced during halftime.

The Bulldogs played tough the whole game but were unable to score. They came out with a 28-0 loss.

On Saturday night students packed the JSHS gymnasium for the Homecoming Dance.

At the dance, congratulations were showered upon the new king, queen and court as they were introduced to kick off a night of celebration.

Pollyanna

A Show-Stopping Success

Pollyanna was presented by the Holbrook Jr./Sr. High School Music Parents on Friday, February, 1st and Saturday, February 2, 2002. Bringing the story of a girl's life to the stage, the play was unlike comedies the audience is used to seeing. Brilliantly directed by George Sullivan, Pollyanna was a big success.

The cast of Pollyanna included Ashley Grover (Pollyanna), Melanie Crocker (Miss Polly Harrington), John Vandermaelen (young Jimmy Bean), Eddie Paris (older Jimmy Bean), Gordie

Winter Snow Ball

Semi-Formal a huge success!

The theme for this year's semi-formal was "The Snowball." On the evening of February 8, 2002, the Knights of Columbus was filled with dancing, singing, and all around good times. After much planning by the student council, those in attendance danced the night away.

As the students arrived at the dance, members of student council took their jackets, tickets and welcomed them to an evening of fun with friends and classmates. And with their help, fun is certainly what everyone had.

The music was enjoyable and the atmosphere was entertaining. The four hours in which the dance took place flew by, but what can we say? Time flies when you're having fun!

Stars Are Born at The Cabaret

The eighth annual Cabaret was a complete success. It was held on January 27th at the Knights of Columbus. Gordie Martin, Eddie Paris, and Stephanie Nicholson made this show possible along with the help from the music parents, and of course the performers. The stage band, directed by Mr. Thomas, entertained the audience while waiting for the show to begin. After dinner was served the friendly wait staff opened the show by singing "A Comedy Tonight" which was a delightful beginning. At this point, performances by students were introduced by Eddie Paris and Katie McCarron who were this year's Masters of Ceremony. Our talented Holbrook High students kept this show lively, and to top it all off the show ended with a sing-along to "Proud to be an American" during which the entire audience was encouraged to join in all the fun. Overall the show was one to remember.

Remember the BULLDOGS

In a season plagued with injuries to many key players, the Holbrook-Avon Bulldogs made a valiant effort to remain competitive for the remainder of the 2001 season.

The season started off strong as they squeaked out a close win against Southeastern. The team then struggled in their next three games, but then pulled out another close one against Charlestown.

The team then suffered critical injuries to many key players.

The team lost Senior Brain Fay for the season after suffering a broken thumb. In the following weeks, Senior Drew Lowe sustained a mild concussion that left him sidelined until the last game of the season. The team did not win any of their remaining games.

There is a total of 13 seniors leaving, and the resiliency of this team was very strong, and always Remember the Bulldogs.

Third Time's a Charm

The girls varsity soccer team finished the year with a phenomenal season. With 14 wins and 3 losses the Bulldogs ended as league co-champs for the third year in a row. The team was led by senior captains Lindsay Hogan and Kim Goodwin and junior captain Shauna Silvia. The loss of 4 seniors and 2 eighth graders from the 2000 season made a major impact on the girls line-up, but with the direction of Coach Sharon Farrell, the girls were able to rebuild.

Eighth grader Lauren Mahoney, leading scorer for the season with 23 goals, held together the middle with the help of Meredith Fredericks, Liz Ayers, Kayla Jackson, and Kristina Lowe.

The forward line was headed by Stephanie Mahoney and Amy Breen. These two girls scored 30 of the team's goals. The defensive line, which proved strong in holding leads during tough games such as Sacred Heart and Cohasset, was made up of Lindsay Hogan, Jessie MacNeil, Sarah Digirolamo, and Shannon Hogan. Goalie Shauna Silvia ended her season with 8 shutouts. The Bulldogs scored a total of 100 goals with only 26 goals against.

Boys Soccer

Constructing a Winning Team

The boys' soccer team had a year to rebuild themselves after much of the team graduated last year. They started the new season this year with a new coach and new captains. In his first year at HJSHS, Mr. Snook took on the daunting task of coaching the boys' team. The team was led by senior captains Adam Janus and Christian Fuentes who have been playing soccer together since childhood. This season gave the team a chance to rebuild themselves for a hopeful season next year.

Bulldog Wrestling

A fresh start for holbrook high school's wrestling team

restling is definitely among the toughest sports in America. You need endurance, speed, strength, skill, and more than anything belief in yourself to be an effective wrestler. This year the Holbrook wrestling team have all worked very hard to achieve all this under the drilling of coach Chris Fontecchio, and captains Mike Hathaway and James Denning. Though we have only won one single meet, the Holbrook wrestlers are making a tremendous amount of progress. In the beginning of the season two of our wrestlers, Mike Hathaway and Kyle Bowers, made history in Holbrook. They accomplished this by being the first two Holbrook wrestlers to take first place in a tournament at their respective weight classes. This is merely a symbol for the victory in store for Holbrook Jr. Sr. High School's future.

MOUNT, JUMP, AND CHEER; THIS IS THEIR YEAR!

This year's varsity cheerleading squad was led by tri-captains, Heather Kapson, Amanda Albrecht, and Daniella Piccirilli. Working together with coach, Erica Bachofner, they made this spectacular team successful. Hard work and tremendous amounts of effort were put forth by every member of the team. Football season was a success. The girls supported their football team through good wins and tough losses. To them, cheerleading at the games was a practice for the competitions they had throughout the season. In their first competition at Bristol Plymouth High School, these girls came home with a third place trophy. This made them strive harder to achieve first place. November 4th was their next chance for glory. On this day at Shepard Hill High School in Dudley, MA this highly enthusiastic group of girls was ready to win. They did what they had to do, and accomplished first place. Another trophy for the case was brought home. Their extreme happiness and confidence was all they needed, for they had then qualified for regionals which were held on November 11th at Franklin High School. Again this diligent team achieved the first place trophy which helped them move on and qualify for the state championship. Overall, this team has overcome many goals and challenges this year. They are a very talented squad; they work their hardest, and take cheerleading to heart.

Qualified for State Tournament Second Year in a Row!

The Avon-Holbrook Panthers had a great season. This year for the first time the team has two female players, Linda Kizelewicz and Kaitlyn Foley. They are a great addition to an already aspiring team. The team has practiced hard to play a good season. This year they also have a new coach, Brian MacCauley and last years coach, Chris Cameron who have lead the team to the State Tournament. Brian Lutz, Christian Fuentes, and Dave Sullivan are the tri-captains, two of whom are graduating this year along with one other teammate, Robert Purtle. The team has worked to meet their expectations. They have gained friends and new experiences doing what they love, playing hockey!

○ ○ ○ ○ BASKETBALL

In the small family-like community of Holbrook, there is a team, a team driven by utmost determination to succeed, and represent the town with pride. This team uses defeats as lessons learned, while celebrating victory with the community's most dedicated fans. This team hoards an effective combination of humility, pride, confidence, and desire to be the best they can be. Who is this team you ask? None other than the 2002 boys varsity basketball team here at Holbrook Junior-Senior High School. Through long hard hours of practice and guidance of the motivated Coach Callahan, the Holbrook Bulldogs gave it their all this season. Their offensive playing ability and drive showed great potential, and was accompanied by a defense of equal ability and drive. Tri-Captain Brian Fay, led the team with over 200 points this season while Tri-Captain Ned Fuentes, added more than his fair share against Bristol Plymouth and South Sore Christian Academy. Game after game the players's morale remained far above the norm, which made the team only stronger. The losses gave the team an opportunity to learn from their mistakes and only made the supportive crowd want more. What can be best said for their victories? As Coach Callahan stated, after their final victory against Sacred Heart, "Perservance, enthusiam and leadership are the strength of good men and a good team! Our seniors have proven they have all three."

Girls Basketball

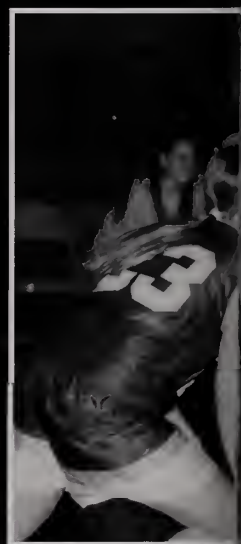

The girls varsity basketball team started off strong this season. After a few injuries to some key players early on in the season, the Bulldogs were able to get through it by winning three out of their first six games. The girls still did not believe that this was good enough. They were so determined, they went on to have a successful nine game winning streak.

Half way through the season, only a week after finding out that they were seated first in the Mayflower League, the team found out that after a careless mistake, made by a Holbrook official the first five wins of their season would have to be forfeited. Even after this horrible tragedy, the girls were able to pull through and still make it to the tournament.

Keeping Memories Alive

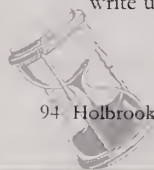

This years Echo Staff has worked dilligently to complete the 2002 yearbook. We were determined to meet all deadlines and complete each page with our own originality.

Our dedicated advisers Ms. Moriarty and Mrs. Bach encouraged us to strive for true profection from theme page to closing. This year we made sure to capture all the memories possible.

Since this is the second year that yearbook is a class, it makes it alot easier to get things accomplished with more time to finish deadlines. We made a great yearbook and are proud to have achieved our goals, and we hope it is enjoyed by everyone.

Student Council

Student Council began a new school year with Mrs. Fitzgerald as their advisor, Cindy Riendeau as President, Joe Riendeau as Vice President, Nicole Mastrogiacomio as secretary, and Lauren Austin as treasurer.

In the month of October, a student council committee sold Halloween decorated "Ghoul Grams" to students, for fifty cents at all lunches. A small bag of candy was attached to each card before they were distributed on Halloween.

The Student Council also attended a Unique Retreat. The retreat was unique, since the students slept over the school. They participated in many fun activities throughout the night, while learning the importance of teamwork and the qualities of good leadership. They also brainstormed ideas for upcoming events such as "Say What Karyoke", and the Semi Formal.

The Student Council also planned a Veterans Day Assembly. The school's band played several patriotic songs. Also Student Council members read patriotic poems.

The Craft fair was a success for Student Council. They sold things such as tree bulbs, clothes pin reindeers, and raffled off a birdhouse and gingerbread house.

The council still has a lot more planing to do, and to look forward to.

The National Honor Society started off its new year with twelve newly inducted members and a new advisor, Mrs. Nicastro. The group was busy this year with their service projects like Trick or Treating for Canned Goods, Jeans for Hunger, the Relay for Life, along with many others that gave food, money, and help to those in need. The group also gave their time tutoring underclassmen and served as the advisor for the seventh grade class. New members were inducted in the spring.

Harvard Model Congress

On Thursday, February 21, 2002, thirteen representatives of Holbrook Jr./Sr. High School checked into the Sheraton Hotel and Towers in downtown Boston for the 17th annual Harvard Model Congress Convention. Representatives from all around the country attended bringing the attendance to a total of fourteen hundred students. Over the four day span, students portrayed members of the House, Senate, and Supreme Court to HMC-TV, lobbyists, and the National Security Council. Drew Lowe was the Secretary of Counter Terrorism on the National Security Council and received an award for his excellence. Partners Bret Rouse and Brian Fay, and partners Adam Janus and Liz Ayers were Supreme Court Lawyers. For the Senators, Caitlin Flanagan was Hillary Clinton, David Femino was Orrin Hatch, and Liz Sumner was Richard Durbin. For the Congressman, David Caruso was Fred Upton, Jay Pukt was Jerrold Nadler, Diedra Feeley was Bob Stump, Phalen Williams was Jim Davis, and Joe Riendeau was Earl Hilliard. Joe also received an award for his great work over the weekend. Overall the experience was very productive and there were alot of bills passed, and hopefully Holbrook will be attended HMC again in the future.
